Dear Martin Gibson,

I am writing to express my strong interest in undertaking an Erasmus internship at Google headquarters in Mountain View, California. I am an undergraduate student in Computer Science, and I am highly motivated to gain international experience in a leading global technology company. Among the many internship opportunities available, I have chosen Google because of its innovative culture, global impact, and commitment to developing cutting-edge digital solutions. Being part of such a dynamic environment would allow me to enhance both my technical and professional skills.

The focus on data-driven technologies, user-centered design, and continuous innovation strongly interests me. I am eager to gain hands-on experience and understand how large-scale systems are developed and managed in real-world settings. I believe that this experience will significantly broaden my perspective and strengthen my problem-solving abilities.

I am a motivated, adaptable, and responsible individual with strong analytical and communication skills. I am confident that I can contribute positively to your team through my dedication, willingness to learn, and ability to work collaboratively.

This internship is directly aligned with my future career goals, as I aim to build a career in the technology sector within an international and innovative environment. I believe that gaining experience at Google headquarters will provide me with a strong foundation for my professional journey.

After completing the internship and returning to my home country, I plan to apply the knowledge and experience I have gained in both my academic and professional life. I am also eager to share my international experience and contribute to the development of innovative digital solutions in my local environment.

I would be honoured to join your team and contribute to your ongoing projects. Thank you very much for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Hale Er
